

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention discloses a throwing amusement device and method for using the device, whereby the throwing amusement device consists of a throwing element and a target element, along with a method for using for using the device for competitive and/or enjoyable activities, in which players attempt to temporarily attach or wrap a throwing element to the target element.